COL. J. S. MOSBY LOSES OFFICE

Famous Confederate Guerrilla Dismissed July 1.

As Special Attorney of Department of Justice He Had Been Administration Favorite.

It became known yesterday that Col. John S. Mosby, the famous Confederate guerrilla, was discharged July 1 as special attorney of the Department of Justice, to which he was appointed about eight years ago by President Roosevelt.

Attorney General Wickham is not in town, and no explanation was made at the Department of Justice, but old age is supposed to have been the cause of Col. Mosby's dismissal.

He is seventy-three, blind in one eye, and somewhat deaf, but his friends say he is still active and energetic. It is understood that he will now devote his time to writing a book of reminiscences of the civil war, with particular reference to the prominent part he played in the drama.

Col. Mosby's first assignment under the department was carried out in a way that won him commendation from President Roosevelt. He was told to break up the operations of cattlemen on government lands in the Middle West, and did it in spite of threats of personal injury. He did considerable other work of the same kind, but of late years, although always requesting to be put on active service, was given little to do.

Soon after the civil war Col. Mosby became a Republican and was a special favorite of Gen. Grant, who kept him in important Federal positions, and frequently asked his advice on matters of moment.

TROUBLE FOR PROF. SNYDER.

Colorado Suffragists Criticize Him for Opposing Mrs. Young.

Denver, Col., July 8.—Hammers are swinging in Colorado to-day, the wielders being the suffragists of the State, and the object, Dr. Z. X. Snyder, of the Colorado Normal School. The reason is that the doctor dared to make the race for the presidency of the National Educational Association.

Mrs. Helen Greenleaf, former superintendent of public instruction in Colorado, and one of the foremost suffragists in the State, expressed the general sentiment to-day when she said: "I don't see how Dr. Snyder could do such a thing. This will be the first time a woman has ever asked anything from the N. E. A., and to think that a Colorado man, above all others, would oppose. It is a burning shame."

WADING POOL OPENS TO-DAY

Southeast Children to Frolic at Garfield Park Playground.

Baseball of Dent School Obtained for Use of Tots—Rosedale Basin Is Popular.

Arrangements have been made for the opening of the new wading pool in Garfield Park playground to-day.

This pool has been constructed by Col. Spencer Cosby, engineer in charge of public buildings and grounds, and is designed so that it may be used as a fountain as well as a wading pool.

Children of Southeast Washington have been anxiously awaiting for the time when it might be open for their use. Through courtesy of the board of education, the use of the basement of Dent School has been obtained, and every morning an hour each will be given to the boys and girls for the use of the wading pool for bathing purposes.

This is the second wading pool that has been opened in Washington, and it is the plan of the Playground Association to have one on each of the playground grounds, if possible.

The pool at Rosedale has proved popular with the children of the northeast. While its greatest depth is only eighteen inches, the total depth is possible to use in such a way as to rival the bathing beach.

Burns would continue another year as president of Holy Cross College, Washington, D. C., and that Rev. James E. Galligan and Rev. ### MIDDY MAY MARRY.

Navy Department Makes Exception in Kaufman's Case.

Although Midshipman James E. Kaufman failed to pass his examination and will not be promoted to the rank of ensign, he will be permitted to marry Miss Elsa Draper, of San Francisco. The Navy Department made an exception in his behalf when he pointed out that he failed only in mathematics, and that his wedding day was at hand, with all arrangements made.

The Earl and Countess of Suffolk had apartments in the Blackstone Hotel in Chicago during their stay of several days this week, but made daily visits to the home of the latter's brother, where they greatly enjoyed meeting their new niece, who was born in the Leiter home about ten days ago. The nuptial mass was celebrated by Mr. Mooney, of the archdiocese of New York, who is a cousin of the bride. Miss Isabel Prudence Clarke acted as bridesmaid, and Dr. Ryan Devereux, of this city, was best man. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Edmund Bowen, sister of Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Devereux and children, of Washington; Mrs. Thomas P. Gleason and son Joseph, of St. Louis; Walter Stokes, and Mr. Comber, of Philadelphia. The bride and bridegroom will sail to-day for Naples to spend the summer traveling abroad. The bride, with her mother and sister, went to their summer home from here several weeks ago.

Miss Mabel Hanmerman and John G. Osbourn, both of Baltimore, were married Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Congregational Church, Rev. S. H. Woodrow officiating. The couple returned to Baltimore immediately after the ceremony.

The marriage is announced of Miss Susan M. Cutter and Frederick E. Longroth, of Montclair, N. J. The ceremony took place Thursday noon and was performed by Rev. S. H. Woodrow, pastor of the First Congregational Church, at the Montgomery, where a small gathering of relatives and friends attended.

LIFELONG RESIDENT DIES.

Mrs. Martha Riley Succumbs After Long Illness in Tennytown.

Mrs. Martha Riley, a life-long resident of the District, died Thursday afternoon at her residence in Grant road, Tennytown, from a complication of diseases after a long illness. She was born and reared in the District. Mrs. Riley had many friends in Tennytown, having been one of the first residents of that place. At the age of sixteen she was married to George W. Riley, who died about fourteen years ago. She was seventy-two years of age.

Funeral services will take place from her residence Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in Elidrebury Cemetery. About two months ago Mrs. Riley lost her only son, H. C. Riley, a well-known butcher of the Center Market. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Laura Burrows and Mrs. George Quinlan; twenty-one grandchildren, and eleven great-grandchildren.

MORNING CHIT-CHAT.

"BIOLOGY" is the newest subject to be introduced into the public schools.

Philadelphia is the mother of this innovation. Medical instructors, assisted by trained nurses, are showing the girls how to dress a baby, how to prepare its food and bottle, and how a baby should be washed.

Three cheers for Philadelphia. I believe it is usually customary to make fun of her, but this time she certainly doesn't deserve it. Can you think of anything more thoroughly sane than that idea?

Although I realize fully the value of a good general education, I do not think that should be allowed to crowd out the teaching of specific subjects that have a definite bearing on the children's lives, as much as it has in past years.

It seems to me that the very best way the poorer classes can be taught to make the most of what they have and be put into a position to have more, is by giving their children industrial and homemaking courses in the public schools rather than by settlement work and philanthropy.

These things have their place, of course, but they merely water the branches, while the school training goes straight to the roots. I think this course in biology ought to be instituted in the schools of every large city of the land, and I think it ought to be supplemented by many more scientific homemaking courses.

In Boston a group of young society girls, made up of the graduates from a domestic science school, have formed themselves into a club called the "Boston Homemaking Club." Their purpose is to translate what they have learned into its simplest terms and "pass it on" by means of settlement work to the uneducated people whom they felt need it so much.

One course is in food values. Could anything be sadder than to see the people who ought to get the fullest nutriment value from their scanty supply of money ignorantly buying the least nutritious foods as they usually do?

The death roll of those in the slums, the primary cause of whose death is simply improper nourishment, is enormous. If these people knew how much nutriment there is in many cheap things such as peas and beans and rice and macaroni, not only would the death roll be enormously reduced, but the industrial value of others who, although they do not actually die, are always on the verge of uselessness because of improper nourishment, would be vastly increased.

Think how much industrial training along these lines would do to help the next generation. No, that does not solve to-day's problem, but in addition to the task of beautifying the ugly spots of to-day, I think we have also the duty of planting shade trees for the next generation.

Another course is to be in meat buying—another in the buying of materials.

Another is in tasteful house furnishing. The girls hope to show how a home may be attractively furnished by thoughtfully and tastefully expending no larger a sum than the installment plan firm requires to "finish complete" in all the horrors of stuffed furniture and gilded framed chromos.

I wish that all these courses and several more along the same lines might be instituted in the public schools of every city in the land. Don't you think that the advisability and the possibility of putting some such new blood into the curriculum of the schools of this city might be a good thing to discuss in your club? RUTH CAMERON.

NO ONE ON CAPITAL LID WITH CABINET ALL GONE

Who'll sit on the "lid"? That is the question which was being asked in governmental circles in Washington yesterday.

Mr. Nagel, Secretary of Commerce and Labor, was the only Cabinet officer left in town, and he is already tired of the job. He leaves to-day for his home, in Marlboro, Mass., and a few days later will start on a six-week trip to Alaska.

So anybody can lift the "lid" to-day if it takes a Cabinet officer to hold it down. President Roosevelt used to leave Secretary Taft to perform the feat—some say because he was the heaviest man in the Cabinet. Be that as it may, he held it down securely.

Postmaster General Hitchcock is expected to return early next week, but he is planning to make an extended trip through the Southwest, especially through Arizona and New Mexico.

It has been suggested that Chairman Knapp, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, must undertake the task. He will probably have to remain in Washington nearly all summer, whether he wants to or not, on account of the important railroad cases that must be settled.

FORTUNE FOR BOY WHO OBEYS WILL

Col. R. G. Dyrenforth Provides for Adopted Son.

The will of Col. Robert G. Dyrenforth, formerly assistant commissioner of patents, has been filed for probate, and in this document he gives instructions for Robert St. George Dyrenforth, his eight-year-old adopted son.

The will states that the boy is to complete high school at fourteen, after which he is to go to Harvard for a full course, which he is expected to finish at eighteen.

The son is to learn manual training work, is to be instructed in athletics and dancing, and is to study music. He is to visit France, Spain, Italy, Greece, Germany, Denmark, and Russia. Young Dyrenforth is to study law at Oxford and at eighteen he is to enter the United States Military Academy at West Point, and after having served a short time in the army is to be thoroughly educated in law, which he is to adopt as a profession.

The executors are charged with guarding the young man from women. The Supreme Council of the Scottish Rite is to be the beneficiary of the whole estate should young Dyrenforth become a Catholic.

Until he attains the age of twenty-eight the boy is to have the income of the entire estate. At that age the bequests to him become absolute. William H. Dyrenforth, of Chicago, Ill., is to receive $2,000 for the care of the boy, and in lieu of commissions as trustee, $1,500 to Harold Dyrenforth, of Chicago, regent, for similar service. Other bequests are $1,000 to Mary E. Dyrenforth, $2,000 to Anna I. Berry, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and $2,000 to Lewis F. Dyrenforth, of Chicago.

The estate will descend to William H. Harold, and Robert Collis Dyrenforth, of Chicago, should the boy die.

Harold as Col. Dyrenforth made the conditions under which his grandson is to receive his bounty, yet he accomplished almost as much when he was a boy. He was born in Chicago in 1844, and was trained in the public schools. By the time he was seventeen he had graduated from several of the higher gymnasia of Germany. When the civil war, through all of which he served, was ended in 1865, he had not had enough of fighting, and with his well-earned brevet promotions behind him, he fought through the Indian campaigns of '65. Then he again went abroad to study, after having married Jane De Lacy in 1866, and he studied this time until he had graduated from Heidelberg.

He saw the Franco-Prussian war as a newspaper correspondent, and after that experience returned to America, and in 1871, at the age of twenty-seven, he commenced his career as patent attorney and expert in the government service. His rose steadily until he was assistant and then chief examiner; then he was made Commissioner of Patents, and when he would have resigned Mr. Cleveland persuaded him to remain at the head of the Patent Bureau.

Hope for Injured Girl.

Although Anne Howe, the four-year-old girl who fell from a four-story window Thursday, continues in a serious condition, there are hopes for her recovery. The attending physician declares that a dislocated hip is the most serious of her injuries, and does not think she is internally injured.

Robert M. Pindell, Jr., of Maryland, chief clerk of the office of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, has been appointed to succeed Mr. Baldwin. Mr. Pindell a few months ago was assistant to the appointment clerk of the Department of Commerce and Labor, being transferred from there to disbursing officer of the Census Bureau.

WILL GO ABROAD TO STUDY TRADE

Maj. Carson, Veteran of the Press, Appointed.

Maj. John M. Carson, chief of the Bureau of Manufactures of the Department of Commerce and Labor, has been selected to go abroad and look into general trade conditions and investigate the opportunities for American manufacturers. The position is a permanent one.

Maj. Carson was for many years an occupant of the press gallery at the Capitol, being a well-known correspondent.

Although there are a number of agents sent abroad by the department to look after special lines, such as cotton, wheat, &c., Maj. Carson's work will be more comprehensive, covering the situation more as a whole.

Was Brilliant Writer.

Up until his appointment to the position of chief of the Bureau of Manufactures in 1902, which came through former President Roosevelt, Maj. Carson had the distinction of being one of the most brilliant newspaper correspondents of the Washington contingent. He occupied the office of chief of the Washington bureau which was created after the consolidation of the Philadelphia Times and the Philadelphia Ledger. He was the first president of the Gridiron Club, and one of its founders. He is a member of the Army and Navy Club and the Military Order of the Loyal Legion. His career began as an office "devil," from which he was graduated to compositor, and thence to newspaper reporter.

The next place to attract the young man was the life of a soldier. He became an officer in the Twenty-seventh Pennsylvania regiment, embracing a period from May, 1861, until June, 1864.

After the war newspaper life again attracted him and he worked in this field in Philadelphia until 1873, when he became night editor of the National Republican in this city, later, in 1874, becoming correspondent for the New York Times and the Philadelphia Ledger.

Helped Make Tariff Law.

Maj. Carson assisted in the formation of the tariff bill of 1
